HIGH SCHOOL GYMNASIUM IS POSSIBILITY IF PLANS PROVE PRACTICABLE--FOR PRESENT

Girls Organize Basketball Team and Will Have Tennis Club When Weather Permits.

President—Miss Marguerite Carnegie.
Secretary—Miss Mary B. Jennings.
Treasurer—Miss Mildred Orme.

Organization of the girls' athletic association in Paducah High school was effected yesterday afternoon with a membership of 20, and the previously mentioned officers. Work of forming basketball teams will begin at once. This will not be the only form of sport indulged in, as the members intend to organize tennis teams when the weather is more favorable. A delay was occasioned in the organization of this association by their failure to secure a place to practice, but the faculty kindly offered the second floor of the Washington building, until the Eagles' Hall is vacated by the Catholic school.

A High School "Gym."
Today Principal W. H. Sugg and Supt. John A. Carnegie will inspect the Washington building with a view of planning fitting it out for athletics. It is roomy and with few changes can be converted into a gymnasium.

CAPTAIN'S PLACE OFFERED COLLINS UNDER HARRISON

Chief of Police Collins has been offered a captaincy in the department by political friends of Tom Harrison, contingent, of course, upon the election of Mr. Harrison, and the lining up of Chief Collins' friends actively for Mr. Harrison before the election.

Chief Collins has refused the proposition, as might have been expected. Chief Collins, it seems, is not dicker-ing for a reduction in rank from chief to captain.

How much authority this gentleman had to bind Mr. Harrison by promise, is not known; but he stands high in the councils of the political factions, whose candidate Mr. Harrison was at the primary and he urged Chief Collins to get his friends in the thick of the fight.

The first program has been assigned as follows: "A Model Lesson," Miss Ella Larkin, and "Suggestions for Busy Work," Miss Lillie Burdine.

Superintendent Carnegie will organize teachers of each grade into a class and hold meetings once a month, these taking the place of the regular grade meeting. He will conduct them on the same plan that the monthly reading circle is conducted, believing that better results can be secured. The twice a month meeting of grades plan has been abolished.

PROF. LIEB SUBS FOR HIS SALARY FOR LAST MONTH

Prof. C. M. Lieb, formerly superintendent of city schools, today filed suit against the school board of Paducah for $166.66, his salary for the month of August. The petition states that the plaintiff entered into a contract with the school board in March, 1906, to serve for a term of one year from September 1, 1906, and that he discharged his duties regularly and satisfactorily until he was notified that a successor would take charge August 1. He was to receive for the entire year $2,000 in installments of $166.66 each month.

This suit was expected. The board is divided on the question of paying the amount. Some members insist there was a mistake in the contract; that the contract for the preceding year was from August to August; there was a matter of one month between the termination of one contract and the inception of the other, and since he was paid for that month nothing is due him for August, 1907. Others say he worked during that month and earned the salary, and they insist on living up to the contract.

Prof. Lieb brings the suit to vindicate his course.

Recently some of Graves' orators went to that place and met a frost. They were told if they would have McBroom there, they could draw a crowd, so they announced that would.

He smiled when the tune was finished, waved a salute and started for the other side of the boat.

POLICE CRUSADE AGAINST HOUSES OF IMMORALITY

"Policemen will report all 'gun-barrel bawdy houses' on their beats" is the order posted on a bulletin board in Chief of Police James Collins' office, and patrolmen are expected to use diligence in carrying out the order. What it means is not clear, except that the department is said to be intent on breaking up all houses of ill-fame in resident portions of the city.

Of late complaint has come in from certain localities of houses not thought to be conducted on a strictly moral plan, and while it is not known positively by police that they are bawdy houses, many indications point that way. To secure evidence against such tenants is difficult, but Chief Collins intends to break them up. Since their dispersion from Kentucky avenue the women have scattered.

PHYSICIANS CURE SKIN WITH SIMPLE REMEDY.

Noted Eczema Specialist Comments on a Proven Specific for Skin Diseases.

Physicians everywhere continue their praise for ordinary oil of wintergreen in a wonderful specific for Eczema and other itching skin diseases. This liquid, pure and clean as water, externally applied has instant effect. A few drops on the burning, itching sore causes instant relief, and a short continued use gives a complete cure.

Dr. C. B. Holmes, of Silver City, Miss., is so enthusiastic about this remedy—D. D. D. Prescription—that he declares in a letter to the D. D. D. Company of Chicago that this great remedy is as near a specific for Eczema as is quinine for malaria. "I have been using your D. D. D. for four years with gratifying results," writes Dr. Holmes.

There are thousands of other physicians who use D. D. D. Prescription, the oil of wintergreen specific. D. D. D. cures and it is so clean to use. We did not know what D. D. D. will do we would not recommend it to our friends and patrons.

Church on Train.

Miss Jane Corcoran, who is playing in "A Doll's House" this year, appeared in "The Freedom of Suzanne" last season, playing in the cities of the middle west. That is what happened on this particular occasion. Miss Corcoran and her company were on their way from Des Moines, Iowa, to Lincoln, Neb., an all night ride. The company left Des Moines at midnight on Saturday night, all taking sleepers. They expected to arrive in Lincoln shortly before noon on Sunday and did not leave their berths until late in the morning. When they arose, they found themselves lost in a sea of snow. The train having been stopped by the heavy fall. One of the passengers was a clergyman who expected to preach in one of the towns that morning. Miss Corcoran attends church at least once each Sunday and her remark that she probably would miss services because of the snow, attracted the clergyman's attention. A sermon in a sleeping car was the thing farthest from his mind, but Miss Corcoran's remark set him to thinking. He did not know who his fellow passengers were and probably would not have volunteered to officiate, had not Miss Corcoran followed her remark with a few strains of one of the old hymns, taught her when a child.

Miss Corcoran's sweet voice decided the clergyman and his duty, he afterward said. He volunteered to lead in prayer and preach the sermon intended for the congregation in the little town, if Miss Corcoran would sing.

"Certainly, I shall sing," she answered.

And there in the midst of a sea of snow, with the winds howling about the cars the Nebraska minister spoke of the homes and the dear ones his fellow travelers had left behind, urged them to live uprightly and to shun evil.

"Young Buffalo," That thrilling, cleverly constructed melodrama, founded on western border life, entitled, "Young Buffalo King of the Wild West" by Charles E. Blaney, will be held here at The Kentucky on Friday, October 11.

"Young Buffalo" is a typical American hero, and is surrounded by a congress of frontier characters of the sort that "shoot up" things when the notion strikes them, as well as manly, heroic, kind that are the basis of considerable western novels. It is a play full of snap, realism, awe-inspiring scenic effects, and withal, logical—that is, full to the limit, with exciting situations, and startling climaxes, but yet within the lines of the possible.

"Young Buffalo," the hero, is an actual resident of Arizona, a former miner and cow-puncher, who finally developed a genius for the stage with sufficient success to attract the notice of such a good judge of talent as Mr. Blaney. And that the latter has not erred in entrusting the leading part to Young Buffalo, none will gainsay.

Charles B. Hanford. "Of all Shakespeare's historical plays," says Coleridge "Antony and Cleopatra is by far the most wonderful." He again says, assigning it a place even higher than that of being the most wonderful of the historical plays, "the highest praise, or rather

HERPICIDE'S MISSION.
It Takes Away the Dread of Birthdays.

Nothing is more annoying to men and women of middle age than to see those unmistakable signs of age—thin hair and grayness—approaching. But science has discovered that these conditions are no longer, "unmistakable" evidences of old age, for the dandruff germ theory proves that even very young people may suffer hair loss, while those fortunate enough to escape the ravages of the scalp germ, retain their abundant locks to a ripe old age. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and removes the risk of appearing old before your time. Save your hair and your feelings, by using the genuine Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. PAY OFF

THIS IS THE INJUNCTION GIVEN BY THE BURGLAR.

Drew Razor Across Throat of Victim Whom He Held By the Ear While He Walked.

Charlie Lee, colored, was presented in police court this morning charged with on the most unique of robbery charges, and granted a continuance. Lee is alleged to have robbed Tom Baker, a one-armed negro, in a house on Kentucky avenue between Ninth and Tenth streets on Saturday night, and this is how he is alleged to have done it.

Walking into Baker's bed room, he seized the sleeping man's ear, and with a jerk brought him to his senses. In his hand Lee held a sharp razor. It is said, lifting Baker's head, he is said to have drawn the razor across Baker's throat and commanded: "Pay off, ole nigger, pay off."

Baker reached for his trousers and "paid off," giving Lee all his cash, amounting to $8.50. Lee escaped but was captured last night after a diligent search by patrolmen.

Paducah Girl's Triumph.
The Clarksville, Tenn., "Leaf Chronicle" says of "The Buttery Carnival" entertainment given in that city by little Pearl Riley, daughter of Photographer M. L. Riley, appeared as "Puck":

"One character, however, probably more than any other, seems to have attracted the entire audience from the beginning, and that was 'Puck,' represented by little Pearl Riley, of Paducah. Being only nine years old and necessarily an amateur, still many of the older in years and experience would have rejoiced to have exchanged with her. Every word and act was in the right time and right way. She justly merits all the encomiums of praise bestowed upon her."

Truth and a woman's age have little or nothing in common.

A Plea for the Knife. Eating with the knife harms no one. It gives the eater courage, a steady hand and a quick eye. It gives the spectator a gentle and salubrious thrill. Only the social purist is outraged—and the social purist has no rights worth discussing. In defiance of all logic and common sense he calls it indecent to wear a dress suit before 6 o'clock, or to wear tan shoes at one's wedding, or to combine a crush hat with a red waistcoat. Of similar arbitrariness and lunacy are all of his commandments. He is a loose and despotic thinker—a bigot and an undesirable. The mere fact that he denounces eating with the knife is sufficient to make the custom one to be dearly loved, cherished and defended.—Baltimore Sun.

STANDARD OIL CO. TANKS ARE DANGER

City Limits

Matter Will Be Investigated by Joint
Fire Committee of the General Council.

LOWER BOARD HELD SESSION.

The board of councilmen last night voted to investigate the practice of the Standard Oil company of unloading cars of oil by means of pumps, said to endanger the lives and property of residents in the locality of its tanks. Several ordinances were read and the hour and three-quarters session was marked by no particular feature, business being chiefly routine.

President Lindsey and Councilman Herzog were absent.

Councilman Ernest Lackey was elected president pro tem.

Minutes of the last regular meeting were adopted.

A prayer from Charles Voight for relief from over assessment was referred.

A prayer from property owners of the extreme northern portion of the city, requesting that certain low lands be excluded from sewer district No. 3, was received. Most of the property lies between Twelfth and Sixth streets north of Burnett street. Two subsequent prayers for the same purpose were referred with the former.

A report from Milk and Meat Inspector Ed Farley was filed and ordered published.

A prayer for extension of water mains on West-Harrison street beyond Twelfth street, was referred to the Paducah Water company.

An application from Herman Little for the position of sewer inspector was filed.

Mayor Yelzer stated that he had been cited to a defect or defects in the ordinance imposing a fine on railroads, "or employees," for blocking streets. He had been asked to have the clause pertaining to employees being liable to fines, stricken, as the court of appeals has passed on the point, deciding that employees are not liable. Mayor Yelzer had an ordinance prepared with the clause stricken, and presented it to the board.

Sewer Bids Turned Down.
Auditor Kirkland read bids for installing lateral sewers in district No. 2, all of which the board of public works considered too high, and recommended that the bids be not considered.

Local contractors several weeks ago placed bids at a figure much lower, and were turned down as being too high. Recommendations of the board of public works were favorably acted on.

City Engineer Washington stated that he inquired of contractors as to why bids were so high, and received information that contractors were "afraid of the ordinance." He suggested that the ordinance be "tested" before bids were advertised for again.

The ordinance was drawn while City Solicitor James Campbell was ill and when he had no substitute, and the committee had to do the best it could. Action on the matter was deferred.

Herman Friedman desires a change made in storm water sewer on Broadway to relieve his cellar from being flooded each rain. He declared that his furnace has been almost ruined by water backing into it, and that the cause is a change was made in the original sewerage plans without his consent or consultation. He expects the city to pay for damage done his furnace. The matter was referred to the relief committee, city engineer and city solicitor "with power to act." City Engineer Washington has a plan to remedy the matter at a cost of about $100.

The matter of improving Meyers street beyond Island creek was referred.

A report that the Illinois Central will within three weeks place all tracks within the city limits on a grade with streets was filed.

A suggestion from the board of public works to institute legal proceedings against Contractor E. C. Terrell to compel him to repair Fifth street from Jefferson to Kentucky avenue, was read. A suggestion from City Solicitor Campbell for the city to do the work itself and charge expenses to Terrell's bondsmen, was filed. The board of public works was instructed to comply with Solicitor Campbell's recommendations.

An opinion that no penalty can be legally imposed on Contractor Edward Bridges' Sons for failing to finish sewer district No. 2, within the specified time, because two additional miles were added after the contract was executed, was filed by the city solicitor. The board voted not to attempt to impose a penalty.

Finance Reports.

A report of the joint finance committee, on claims, bills, running expenses, etc., amounting to $10,785.04, was received and filed, and all accounts allowed.

A report from City Treasurer John Dorlan was filed. It showed a balance on hand September 1 of $21,639.36 with $20,669.05 paid out, $4,487.19 collected, leaving a balance of $16,900.05 in the treasury at the close of September.

Ordinances.

Ordinance for grading and graveling Faxon street, in Faxon's west end addition. First reading.

Ordinance requiring all street cars to have fenders on both ends. First reading. The penalty for a violation of the ordinance is not less than $5 nor more than $15 for each offense. The rule was suspended and the ordinance given second passage.

Ordinance prohibiting the hitching or standing of horses, mules, oxen, cows or any vehicle on the city scales lot. The penalty is from $5 to $20 for each offense. Councilman Van Meter thought that this may keep farmers from bringing hay and other produce to the city, as they have to wait on the city scales lot for a buyer. The intent of the ordinance was to rid the lot of horse traders. Ordinance was referred to the committee for revision.

Ordinance for grading and graveling Clark street from Tenth street to the hollow, the width to be 50 feet. First passage given.

Ordinance regulating the speed of railroad trains through the city limits and to prevent the blocking of streets by trains or engines. This is the regular ordinance now in effect with the clause making employees liable for street blocking, struck out. First passage given. The rule was suspended and the ordinance given second passage.

Miscellaneous Business.

The matter of outlining sewer district No. 3 again, since protests have been filed against certain portions of territory embraced in the original plans, was referred.

A prayer for exemption from taxation for five years for the Lack Mal-leable Iron company was filed.

The ordinance committee was instructed to draft an ordinance compelling all vehicles, motor cycles or automobiles to turn into Broadway at all street intersections from First to Sixth streets, at a speed not exceeding a horse's walk.

The matter of drafting an ordinance prohibiting the operation of phonographs in the business section, was referred.

The committee was instructed to draft an ordinance imposing a penalty on all persons bringing cattle suffering from tuberculosis to Paducah.

Selection of a site for a public fountain, to be donated by the National Humane society, was referred.

Councilman Foreman stated that the ordinance regarding compulsory sewer connections would be effective May 1, and the motion to advertise the fact was favorably acted on.

Police Report.
A report from James Collins, chief of police, for September, showing collections of $707.10 for fines and forfeitures, was filed.

Liquor License Application.
Application from Wm. Reynolds, colored, for a coffee house license at 116 Kentucky avenue was referred.

How to Cure Constipation

Few people altogether escape a disorder of the bowels. You may catch cold, over-eat, over-drink, worry too much, not exercise enough or do a hundred and one other things that result in constipation or costiveness. When the trouble comes it is well to know what to do for it. In the opinion of thousands there is no better cure for constipation than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which anyone can obtain for 50 cents or $1 at a drug store. We all have constipation occasionally, and the sensible thing to do is to have a bottle of this remedy always in the house. You take it at night on retiring, for example, and when you wake up in the morning at your usual hour it produces its results. Your stomach instantly becomes lighter, your head clearer, your eyes brighter, you feel active and spry once again, your appetite has returned and you are ready to work with enthusiasm and vigor. All this may not have taken more than a dose or two, at a cost not to exceed two or three cents. Can you afford to feel bad when you can feel good for so little?

Dr. Wilson Brown, of Metropolis, Ill., has no hesitancy in saying that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the greatest of all laxatives and he frankly admits to his patients that if they used it when the stomach, liver or bowels got out of order they would have less need of him. It is without doubt the best cure for occasional or chronic constipation, dyspepsia, biliousness, jaundice, sour stomach, lazy liver, flatulence, diarrhea, and all other digestive ills in old or young. It is a thousand times better than salts or purgative waters, acts gently but surely, is pleasant to the taste, does not grip, and cures permanently.

Go to your druggist and get a 50 cent or $1 bottle and see if our claims are not justified.

FREE TEST Those wishing to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin before buying can have a free sample bottle sent to their home by addressing the company. This offer is to prove that the remedy will do us no harm, and is only sent to those who have never taken it. Send for it if you have any symptoms of stomach, liver or bowel disease. Confess your most effective laxative for children, women and old folks. A guaranteed, permanent home cure. THE PUBLIC VERDICT: "Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best of all laxatives." Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Co., 1070 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

A prayer from C. V. Scott for over assessment on property in Harahan addition, was referred to the tax-books supervisors.

Several deeds and transfers to lots in Oak Grove cemetery were ratified.

The matter of contracting for erecting a sexton's residence in Oak Grove cemetery was referred to the joint cemetery committee with power to act.

Councilman Tuttle made complaint of an offensive odor at the Paducah Canning company's plant on South Tenth street, and moved to have the health officer abate the nuisance. The motion was adopted.

Councilman Crandall stated that the Standard Oil company pumped oil from cars to its tanks at Tenth and Monroe streets, a dangerous undertaking; and suggested the matter be looked into and remedied if possible. The matter was referred to the joint fire committee.

Attorney J. C. Flournoy, representing the Paducah Southern Electric Railway company, asked for an ordinance granting permission for the road to come into Paducah without the sale of a franchise. The matter was referred to the city solicitor to decide the legality of such an action.

Councilman Van Meter stated that on Jefferson street from Tenth to Twelfth streets, was in a bad sanitary condition, gutters reeking with filth. The matter was referred to health authorities.

Councilman Williamson stated that Mrs. Stubblefield was charged a poll tax by mistake, and it was voted to return $1.50 to her.

Go To Europe For Torpedoes.

Washington, Oct. 8.—It developed today that the ordinance department of the navy has an agent in Europe, sent there to purchase a number of Whitehead torpedoes. This recourse to foreign manufacture was necessary because the department was unable to secure enough in the United States to properly equip the torpedo boats with this class of armament. The contingency will be avoided, naval officers say, after January 1 when it is expected the government naval torpedo company at Newport will be in operation. The cost to the government for European manufactured torpedoes, it is said, will be slightly less than for those manufactured in this country.

Before You Buy a Stove Consider the Fuel Question

It's Fuel that's Expensive—Not the Stove

A Cheap, putty-jointed stove will waste more than its Original Cost in Fuel every winter.

As you know, fully one-half the carbon available for heat in soft coal is gas—the entire gas supply used for fuel and illumination in many cities and towns being made from common soft coal. The ordinary stove in burning soft coal allows this gas-half of the fuel to pass up the chimney unburned, thus wasting it as a heat producer.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Stove, by means of the patented Hot Blast draft and other patented features, making airtight joints without the use of stove putty, distills this gas from the upper surface of the coal, utilizing it as a heat producer along with the fixed carbon or coke in the coal, thus burning all the coal. This is why

Cole's Original Hot Blast

Saves the Dollars and makes a ton of common $3.00 soft coal or lignite do the work of $9.00 worth of hard coal.

Your old stove and imitation Hot Blast are not airtight, do not save the escaping gases and do not give you a warm house at night, because they are made with putty joints. You cannot afford to say to yourself, "My old stove will have to do this winter." The old stove is eating up the price of a new stove every year. Not only that, but on top of the cost is the unsatisfactory result it gives. It is always out the coldest morning.

Even Heat Day and Night—Fire Never Out

Cole's Hot Blast is so perfect in construction that fire will keep all night, and when the draft is opened in the morning will burn two or three hours with the fuel put in the night before. No other stove does this. Fire, therefore, never goes out, and the rooms are kept at an even temperature all the time. Burns hard coal, soft coal, slack, lignite or wood.

OUR GUARANTEE

- 1.—We guarantee a saving of one-third in fuel over any lower draft stove of the same size, with soft coal or slack.
- 2.—We guarantee Cole's Hot Blast to use less hard coal for heating a given space than any base burner made with same heating surface.
- 3.—We guarantee that the rooms can be heated from one to two hours each morning, with the soft coal or hard coal put in the stove the evening before.
- 4.—We guarantee that the stove will hold fire with soft coal 24 hours without attention.
- 5.—We guarantee a uniform heat day and night, with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.
- 6.—We guarantee every stove to remain absolutely airtight as long as used.
- 7.—We guarantee the feed door to be smoke and dust proof.

The above guarantee is made with the understanding that the stove be operated according to directions, and set up with a good fire.

For Hard Coal — Saves Half

The extent of unburned gases in hard coal is shown by opening the magazine cover of a base burner when the extra oxygen supplied fills the entire stove with flaming gas.

The fact that no stove putty is used to make airtight joints, gives you perfect control over the drafts on Cole's Hot Blast. The slow, economical combustion, and the large, positive radiating surface make it the greatest fuel-saving, hard coal stove made.

Would You Lose $50.00 in Fuel to Save $1.00 on the Cost of Your Stove?

That is what you do when you buy a cheaply constructed, putty jointed, showy made imitation stove. Like all successful inventions, Cole's Original Hot Blast has many inferior imitations, avoid them. They all lack the patented features and careful construction, which make the Original Hot Blast a great success. They do not stay tight, and soon open seams and cracks which render them worthless as fire keepers. See the name "Cole's Hot Blast from Chicago" on the feed door. None genuine without it.

A FEW FIGURES.

Figures won't lie. They can't lie—before you. But figures may be lied about, and they may be so misrepresented and placed in such false attitudes by designing persons, that they can be made to lend themselves to deceit. The Republicans of Kentucky are calling for a look at the books. They are being met by—not the Democrats, mind you—but the state machine, with figures, and such figures, and in such combinations, as the machine mathematicians care to give out.

Last evening the News-Democrat took a lot of figures from the state Democratic campaign book, attempting to show that the state administration since the Bradley administration has brought the school per capita from $2.35 to $3.40; but it does not go back of the Bradley administration to show whence the Bradley administration brought the per capita tax.

$2.35, nor does it say anything about $150,000 fraudulently appropriated, by creating a deficit, to pad the school fund just previous to the election of Governor Bradley.

The News-Democrat has nothing to say of the fact that state warrants were discounted to brokers when Bradley went into office. It talks of the deficit (alleged) when Bradley went out of office, a falsehood, and fails to mention that there was an outstanding debt of $2,217,534, when Bradley went in, and a bonded debt of only $1,000,000 with $1,060,425 in the treasury when he went out.

The News-Democrat glibly recites the fact that the administration spent $2,514.66 more than the Republicans on eleemosynary institutions and "laudable purpose" (perhaps, this latter includes $159,236.93 special attorneys fees paid out by this administration as compared with $4,346.48 paid out by Bradley); but the News-Democrat neglects to state that, had not the Bradley administration, the state finances on a sound basis, this administration couldn't have spent a cent, and the tax rate for general purposes under the Bradley administration was only 42 1-2 cents, as compared with 50 cents under this administration.

With the confidence of a prophet the News-Democrat asserts that, after paying all outstanding obligations, there will remain in the state treasury January 1, $1,250,000. Of course, they may have a wizard of finance at Frankfurt. We only know what the books show now. On July 31, 1907, there was in the general expenditure fund a deficit of $632,042.04, and an unpaid balance on appropriations for public improvements of $672,277.49. This we take it, will run considerably above $1,250,000. But maybe they know how they will do it.

When the election is over, we may begin talking about the second Thaw trial, which will be pulled off in December.

Nobody but the Democratic organ is protesting against the offer of a reward for election bribers.

WHAT DOES BRYAN KNOW ABOUT IT?

We protest that we know more about the local situation than does Mr. Bryan. He is making the circuit of Kentucky in the interest of things he does not understand. Today he, a man of abstemious habits and clean life, makes a plea for the cause of intemperance in Paducah; begs voters to cling to their party organization, when he knows that if his admonition is accepted in good faith by the country, he will be beaten for president by a million votes, and declares righteous those things we know to be unrighteous.

In the western Republican states Bryan has pleaded for independence. He has bolted the Democratic ticket himself and joined the Populists. He has repeatedly asserted that he will allow his conscience to overrule his sense of party loyalty.

Bryan calls on Kentuckians to vote their national sentiments at the state and local election, when he knows that not a single national issue is involved; and that if voters in local elections are to vote their sentiments on national questions, they may elect to office the most corrupt men, and defeat the best, without benefiting the country at large.

Why is Bryan touring the state, Democratic friends? To line you up for the state and local ticket, by appealing to your sense of party loyalty.

You are expected to carry with you to the polls the impression that you are voting for William Jennings Bryan this fall, and cast your ballot accordingly.

But Bryan's views are not in accordance with the chief men of his party in Kentucky. Democratic brethren; for the esteemed Kentucky State Journal, the organ of the administration, which claims to be the Democratic party of Kentucky, finds Mr. Bryan's views "repugnant," and this is the warning it gives in its editorial columns Saturday:

"Mr. Bryan will do well in his Kentucky speeches to omit all references to Government Ownership and to let the Initiative and Referendum severely alone. The Democrats have troubles of their own without any special importations from Nebraska. Within this limitation, the Courier-Journal welcomes Mr. Bryan heartily, wrote Mr. Watterson, as he left for New York for an extended visit. While most of us would rather these subjects should be omitted, Democrats generally will welcome Mr. Bryan, no matter what he talks about. However, it is not likely that he will refer to them, since he finds that they are so repugnant to the average Democrat."

A CARD FROM MR. MILLER

About Sewer District No. 3. I understand a protest against me for alderman is being circulated in District No. 3, because I am supposed to be in favor of building the sewer in that territory at once. To disabuse the minds of any who may entertain this idea, I will say I am opposed to building sewers in any territory as sparsely settled as district No. 3 is; especially in the suburban parts.

SHIP SUBSIDY

LEGISLATION WILL BE VALIANTLY SUPPORTED.

Provisions of Measure, Which Was Fought Through House at Last Session.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The familiar question, ship subsidy, will poke its head into the halls of congress soon after the coming session opens and will demand recognition. The interests that are working for subsidy legislation have not been idle since the close of last session and the supporters confidently expect legislation it has been decided not to ask too much. The original bill recommended by the merchant marine commission and passed by the senate, has been abandoned. The program now is to come before congress and ask the enactment of the bill that passed the house five or six days before the end of last session.

"We are to take a little and trust to congress to add to the legislation later," is the way the advocates are now talking. The theory of the shipping interests is that if they can get the principle of subsidy written in the nation's laws they can, with little difficulty, persuade succeeding congresses to enlarge the scope of the legislation.

The bill which, after an exciting struggle, got through the house by a small majority makes these provisions:

For a monthly service from some point on the Atlantic to Brazil, $300,000 a year, or $600,000 a year for a fortnightly service.

From a port on the Gulf of Mexico to Brazil a monthly service, at $300,000 a year, or a fortnightly service at $600,000 a year.

From a port on the Atlantic coast to Argentina, $400,000 for a monthly service, or $800,000 for a fortnightly service.

From a port on the Pacific to the Isthmus of Panama, Peru and Chili, $300,000 a year for a monthly service, or $600,000 for a fortnightly service.

The bill as it passed the house also carried a provision for enrolling seamen of the merchant marine as members of the naval reserve.

Government Ends Strike.
Tonopah, Nev., Oct. 8.—Intervention by the United States government today ended the strike of railroad men that for a week has cut Goldfield off from the outside world. All trains began moving today. Assistant Superintendent of Railway Mail Service Roberts arrived from San Francisco and told the strikers mail trains would have to move even if troops are necessary to accomplish it. Strikers then made a proposition to be reinstated to the old positions which was granted.

MISSOURI CASE LIKE KENTUCKY'S

In the Matter of Trouble With Tax System.

A Tax Commission Has Just Made a Report That Is of Interest In This State.

Missouri has been laboring under a difficulty in its tax system nearly exactly similar to that of Kentucky. A tax commission has been at work in Missouri and in line with the tax commissions of other progressive states it has found no solution of the difficulties of the situation short of a constitutional amendment that will give the legislature greater liberty in dealing with the question; but it also points out that such an amendment is chiefly desirable because it will lead to separation of the sources of state revenue from the sources of county revenue.

The comments of the Missouri tax commission are so pertinent to the situation in Kentucky that the following extracts will be found of interest:

"We all agreed that the first step in any tax reform is the separation of the sources of state and local revenue. This change would not require the exemption of any class of property from taxation. The proposed change may be effected by the adoption of a single constitutional amendment.

"The general features of this separation of the sources of state and local revenues may be briefly summarized. The state would discontinue the levy of a general property tax upon the real and personal property of the state, leaving the assessment and collection of this tax to the counties and municipalities for local purposes. This would make a saving of the large expense incident to the present dual system. It would also dispense with the work of the State Board of Equalization connected with the attempted equalization of assessments of real and personal property among the counties of the state.

"The state would thereafter derive its revenue through its inherent general power of taxation upon general subjects of taxation, as by licenses, corporation taxes, inspection fees and such other forms of taxation as the general assembly may determine.

"The different rates of assessment in the different counties, enforced by the different demands for local revenue, would no longer produce inequality in taxation with reference to the state tax. The remedy proposed is, in our opinion, the only effective remedy. Each community could fix its own rate of valuation as its local needs may require, without subjecting its citizens to the injustice of being compelled to pay an undue share of state taxation.

"There is now a certain kind of home rule in taxation, which consists in the variation of the rates of assessment upon property according to the local needs of the community, some counties paying taxes on 70 or 80 per cent of the real value of property, and others only 20 or 30 per cent. The report of the Tax Commission of 1903 says: It is in the bounds of truth to say that no two counties of the state have the same rule for the assessment of all classes of property, and generally speaking, there is absolutely no uniformity as to the proportion of the assessed value taken as a basis of the real estate, so far as our reports show, as low as 20 per cent of its selling price, while others have a 90 per cent basis. Some assess real estate at 33 1/2 per cent, and tangible personal property at 50 per cent. The commission concluded that there was an absolute want of equality in taxation.

"This inequality can not be remedied by the State Board of Equalization, for the obvious reason that the high rate of assessment in certain counties, including the city of St. Louis, is enforced by the pressing demand for revenue for local requirements. The board can not raise the assessments of the counties which make a low valuation, as that would be imposing an unnecessary burden upon those communities.

"We see no remedy for this existing inequality and resulting injustice, except in the separation of the sources of state and local revenue.

"Under the plan proposed, the state would retain all of its inherent powers of taxation, except as to the general property tax upon real and personal property, which would be assessed and collected by counties and cities for local purposes. The state now levies tax upon insurance companies, drapemongers, express companies, sundries, corporations, license and inspection taxes, and a collateral inheritance tax. What other forms of taxation may be adopted will be for the General Assembly, in its discretion, to determine. The system proposed requires no change in the existing limitations upon the tax rates of the counties, cities and school districts.

"The change recommended requires no modification of the methods of assessing the property of railroads and other public service corporations by the State Board of Equalization. That system is statutory and its continuance or modification is subject to the control of the General Assembly. Should the present system be continued, whereby the assessed valuation made by the state board is apportioned to the counties, the General Assembly should continue the present state tax upon such valuation and provide for its direct payment into the state treasury."

Governor Frantz has been Indian agent for years, and is thoroughly familiar with the work of the interior department.

The President's Policy.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Objections to President Roosevelt's policy of greater federal control of railways is expected to develop at the meeting of the National association of railroad commissioners today. It is reported that a resolution will be offered, endorsing the president's ideas. If this is done many delegates say it either will be tabled or go down under objections. One objection to the president's policy is the congestion of cases now before the commission.

Matchless Workmanship.

Most diseases or of spinal origin. That is a characteristic generalization of Osteopathy in a nutshell, and is a contention that has never been disproved.

The Osteopathic diagnosis, and treatment are new and original, and its percentage of cures have attracted wide attention. This is history that cannot be successfully challenged.

We apply in a new way and with new force, old principles that are part of the recognized, but theoretical teachings of every school of practice, but in an unsystematic form.

You cannot study the anatomy of the spinal column without marveling that it so seldom gets out of order. It is the most matchless piece of workmanship in all mechanics, and the wonder is that it should, sometimes, from the way it is abused, do its work at all.

By all laws of physics, the spine is liable at any moment to get out of order. It is subject to slips, wrenches, pressures, deadlocks, sprains, contractions and congestions—any one of which require only an intelligent engineer to adjust, to relieve and cure.

The Osteopath is that engineer. In just a few moments I can easily explain to you why and how Osteopathy is achieving such a wonderful success in curing all kinds of chronic and acute illness, and I shall take great pleasure in doing so.

Just now you may have a touch of the Fall ailment, to which we Paducahans are heir. If so, let me tell you how easily, how quickly such ailments yield to the Osteopathic treatment.

New York Largest and Hoboken is Smallest City in Point of Acreage.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The bureau of the census has just issued its annual report on the statistics of cities having a population of over 30,000. This report covers the year 1905, and includes financial and other statistics.

The number of cities included in this report is 154, of which 15 had over 300,000 inhabitants, 25 between 100,000 and 300,000, 47 between 50,000 and 100,000, and 67 under 50,000. Of the 154 cities, New York had the largest land area—209,218 acres; New Orleans stood second with 125,600; Chicago third with 117,447; Philadelphia fourth, with 81,828; and Duluth fifth, with 49,556. The five cities named were the only ones with over 40,000 acres of land surface. Six cities had over 30,000 acres and less than 40,000. They are St. Louis, Mo.; Washington, D. C.; Denver, Colo.; Des Moines, Ia.; St. Paul and Minneapolis, Minn.; with areas in the order named. The other cities covering over 20,000 acres were, in the order of decreasing areas: San Francisco, Cal.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Taunton, Mass.; Sioux City, Iowa; Los Angeles, Cal.; Cincinnati, O.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Cleveland, O.; Boston, Mass.; Springfield, Mass.; Portland, Ore.; Worcester, Mass.; Superior, Wis.; Detroit, Mich.; San Antonio, Tex.; Fall River, Mass.; Wichita, Kan.; Manchester, N. H.; Seattle, Wash., and Haverhill, Mass.

The city having the smallest land area was Hoboken, N. J., with 825 acres. There is often great disproportion between the area covered by a city and the number of its inhabitants. Duluth, Minn., with 64,942 inhabitants, takes in more territory than St. Louis with its 636,975; Salt Lake City with a population of 6,554 less than Hoboken, includes an area 25 times as great. Of the cities containing over 100,000 population, Allegheny, Pa., had the smallest land area—4,726 acres. Paterson, N. J., had the next smallest—5,157 acres; St. Joseph, Mo., the next—6,240 acres; Atlanta, Ga., the next—7,680; Jersey City, N. J., the next—8,320; and Memphis the next—9,772 acres.

MORE REASONS

Why We Deserve Your Drug Store Patronage:

A prescription is an order from a doctor to a druggist for a specified amount of medicine of a certain kind and quality with directions for its use by the patient. Experience has taught most physicians that in many instances medicinal preparations made by certain firms give better results than others that may be had for perhaps half the money. For this reason a doctor often names a certain brand of medicine which he wants used in his prescription. Very often it is easy for a druggist to use the cheaper brand. This practice on the part of the druggist is called substituting.

The physicians of Paducah know that we do not substitute.

Our immense stock enables us to give exactly what the doctor orders. Furthermore, business integrity is not a mere jest with us. It is the foundation of our large and steadily increasing prescription business. All the doctors know that our name on the label guarantees the integrity of the medicine.

Bring us your prescriptions.

Delphic Club Meeting.

The Delphic club met this morning at the Carnegie library. It was a most interesting session. The program delightfully discussed was:

1. The Ancient Nile—Its Traditions, Its Value—Miss Lowry.

2. Plant and Animal Life—Climate—Mrs. Louis M. Rieke.

3. The Desert—Its Oases—Miss Ethel Morrow.

Miss Lowry in describing the Nile gave a map talk, instead of discussing it in a paper. In connection with the description of the desert, Miss Morrow read a selection from "The Garden of Allah." Mrs. Rieke's work was full and comprehensive.

Two new members were elected this morning to fill vacancies in the club. Mrs. Lillard Sanders, a former member, and Mrs. George Langstaff, Jr. The club decided to send another box of books to the Kentucky mountains, a feature of the Federated club work that the Delphic is much interested in. The club sent traveling library last spring to the mountains. It will also, take up the distribution of books to the county schools. This, however, is not in connection with the federated work.

Scouts Still Busy in Searching Country for Stars of Future in the Major Organizations.

ALL over the country today the base ball scouts of the big major leagues are digging into the bush in search of playing phenoms who, they hope, will startle the fans next year by developing into Wagners, Mathewsons or LaJoles and incidentally help materially in pulling down a pennant for the club that secures these backwoods wonders.

The mail that is daily dumped upon the magnates' desks contains scores of letters from well wishers of the clubs and the youngsters who desire to bring the magnate and the wonder together for mutual advantage. The weird and wonderful doings of Josh Rustlecorn on the Buckeye Corners are described in seven chapters and a postscript and the advice is handed out gratis that the magnate better hurry, for Managers Chance, Jones, McGraw and LaJole are on the scent, and Mr. Rustlecorn will be gobbled up "if you don't watch out."

The magnates are keen on the hunt, too, but it isn't every Buckeye Corners star that can tear up turf on the big diamonds to the advantage of the clubs, and for that reason there is always a suspicion of doubt about the rustic's ability, despite the fact that the writers are earnest in their desire to see him located with their favorite big league club. That is one way by which the lad from the backwoods lands on the teams of the big cities—by writing ahead, "getting introduced" and then "bumping on." If he gets the chance, to try to make good in the eyes of the owner.

Then there is another way. Mr. Magnate needs a vacation. He goes up into the mountains or into the silence of the shadowy valleys in the belief that there, at least, the game of baseball is unknown. False hope. He has barely rested from carrying his grips up the hill from the station before the host draws out:

"Ye've come just in time, mister. There's goin' to be a dern fine game of ball this afternoon over in the meadow between the Blue Jay Hustlers from Smithport and the All-American Stars. I think they calls themselves, from down by Pinkstawny way. Dad fine players, I tell yer. Best I ever see."

So, in the sunny Sunday afternoon Mr. Magnate goes "over nigh the meadow," half to please his genial "spinach-whiskered" host, who accompanies him, and half to satisfy the love of the national game, which cannot be throttled, vacation or no vacation. Then it's the old story. There in the backwoods the trained judgment and critical eye of the professional player-buyer finds a diamond in the rough, a real baseball player, slow and clumsy in his native soil, but with muscle, size, stamina, and real art, which, when put into training in the environment of the fast major leagues will develop into a new baseball force.

It hardly seems possible but with the passing of a couple of summers this rude farmer boy will be the talk of the nation, attracting thousands of fans every day to see him preside on the mound, or on the sacks, or cover his part of the field in championship manner. That's the way many of the great men come to baseball fame.

Back Yards in Cities.

M. Jules Vachot, chief gardener of the city of Paris, urges upon Americans a study of possible back-yard development even in the most limited space. Ten or fifteen feet reserved for the wash in Paris back yards, leaves room for flowers, vines, trellises, seats and perhaps an al fresco supper. Even the very poor in Paris have their window boxes of plants and flowers. Window gardening is encouraged by private charity in Boston. Why confine it to charity? Why cannot the habit be extended and even made a matter of general application? The appeal of beauty in flower life reaches all ages, and lights up all social conditions.—Boston Herald.

This is such a slangy old age that they will soon refer to the "wise virgins" as "the hep skirts."—New York Mail.

STEAL HALF MILLION AND MURDER SHERIFF.

Seddon, Ala., Oct. 8.—Four masked robbers looted the First National bank of this town last night, shot and killed Sheriff John Williams and escaped on a handcar, northbound, on the Southern railway. It is said the amount taken is $75,250. The robbery and the killing of Sheriff Williams caused intense excitement, and a posse started on the trail of the bandits soon after the crimes were committed.

The robbers were discovered at work about 10 o'clock, when a man passing the bank happened to peer through one of the darkened windows. Hastily giving the alarm, he ran to notify Sheriff Williams. The official received the bank just as the robbers, evidently scenting discovery, were about to leave. The sheriff called upon them to halt, but before he could locate them in the darkness they opened fire upon him and he was instantly killed.

The crowd which had gathered was panic-stricken, and in the confusion the bandits escaped, running through the streets with their booty and firing as they ran. Running north to the yards of the southern railway, they procured a handcar, ran it down a heavy grade and escaped.

INTERESTING DATA ABOUT THE EPISCOPAL MEET

Richmond, Va., Oct. 8.—With the great Episcopal convention now in session, attention is centering on the personnel of what is one of the most distinguished gatherings of churchmen and laymen that has been seen in Richmond in many years. One of the most prominent lay delegates is J. Pierpont Morgan, the eminent financier and banker, of New York city, who has attended the last two gatherings of the Episcopal church, being a delegate in 1904 to Boston and in 1901 to the famous convention which assembled in San Francisco. Mr. Morgan's great wealth and his liberality to the church have made him a prominent figure in these conventions, aside from his prominence in the financial world of this country and Europe. He has been the principal contributor to the great cathedral of St. John the Divine, which is in progress of erection on Morningside Heights, New York city. He has also been a generous patron of missions both at home and abroad. Outside of church lines, his connection with the fine arts has made him famous throughout the country. He has been a director in the Metropolitan Museum of New York and has personally collected one of the finest assortments of art treasures ever brought into this country.

The Thomas House.

For the period of the convention Mr. Morgan will carry out in Richmond the custom he has laid down in other cities, and, as stated some months ago, his agents have rented for October the famous old Thomas mansion, at the corner of Second and Grace streets, where the New York banker and millionaire will entertain in handsome style during the weeks of the Episcopal convention.

The house which will be Mr. Morgan's headquarters stands in one of the most desirable sections of Grace street and is centrally located for the various functions which will come before the triennial convention. A few blocks away is the Jefferson hotel, on Franklin street, which will be in a measure the headquarters of the convention. Near the hotel is the residence of P. H. Mays, a member of the convention, which has been placed at the disposal of Bishop Gibson of the diocese of Virginia, and will be used as a sort of bishops' club for the period of the gathering.

Several blocks down Grace street is St. Paul's church, where the convention will hold its sessions, and here the delegates from all parts of the United States will sit in pews once occupied by Jefferson Davis and the Lees and the old aristocracy of Richmond.

The Thomas house is one of the largest private homes in the city, being a square three-story brick mansion, standing in grounds which occupy a half block along the Grace street front. Ample stables and out-buildings are on the premises, and the house itself is fitted and furnished in a style which represents the best taste of an old regime of Virginia gentry.

James Thomas, the founder of the family and builder of the house, was the pioneer manufacturer of tobacco on a large scale in Richmond, and was one of the earliest of the succession of "tobacco millionaires," which the trade in the fragrant weed has produced. The business established by Mr. Thomas afterwards became the T. C. Williams Tobacco company, and is today one of the largest constituent branches of the great tobacco combine of the country, the American Tobacco company.

The present house was built shortly after the war.

After the death of Mr. Thomas and his widow, it descended to their daughter, Mrs. Thomas N. Rutherford by whom it is now owned.

Mr. Thomas was a patron of education and literature, and his bequests to Richmond colleges make the foundation of the endowment of that institution. One of the daughters of Mr. Thomas married Dr. J. L. M. Curry, well known throughout the country as an author, educator and statesman. Dr. Curry, besides being a professor of note, an author of several standard works on political economy and history, was for some years United States minister to Spain. He was for many years the secretary of the Peabody fund for education, and in this especially had a wide acquaintance with educators throughout America. Another daughter of Mr. Thomas was married in this house to Mr. Carlisle, who is now well known in diplomatic circles in Washington. Mr. Carlisle was chancellor and special counsel for the Spanish legation during a period of difficulty and strain.

Still another daughter of this family married Hon. Richmond Pierson, an uncle of Capt. Hobson, who was named in his honor. Mr. Pierson was for some time a member of congress from North Carolina and later was in diplomatic service of this country abroad, serving as minister to Persia and later to Greece.

The Thomas or Rutherford house as it is now known, marks about the center of the city, and is on one of the highest points within the city's limits. Just opposite is the home of Miss Mary Johnson, the author of several well-known novels dealing with colonial Virginia history.

Will Entertain Lavishly.

The negotiations for the house were conducted by Mr. Morgan's private secretary, who came to Richmond early last spring, dealing direct with the owners, and without the assistance of the committee, who are arranging for the convention. It is generally understood that the rent for the month of October was fixed at $5,000, for the house completely furnished, in addition to which Mr. Morgan agreed to make certain alterations, which are now in progress.

Mr. Morgan has brought with him from his house in New York a full staff of servants, including his chef, and it is said that he will entertain extensively while in the city. It is known that several prominent bishops and laymen will be his guests during the term of the convention, and judging by his custom at former conventions, it may be taken for granted that his house will be the scene of a lavish hospitality throughout the term of the convention. The fact that Mr. Morgan will attend as a delegate from his diocese and take so prominent part in this great Episcopal gathering is taken as effectually setting at rest the oft-repeated rumors that the great banker contemplated changing his allegiance to the Roman Catholic church. Mr. Morgan is known to have many friends in the Catholic faith, including his partner, Mr. Drexell and his public reception by the pope while in Rome last winter seemed to give color to the rumors.

The custom of renting a house for the month of the convention, inaugurated by Mr. Morgan when a delegate to the San Francisco convention six years ago, has been followed by a number of other prominent people in the church, and a dozen or more private homes in Richmond have been leased for October to members or attendants on this convention.

Satan Sanderson is the true embodiment of the requisites that make a really great story. It gives the reader a look into a little world of action where all of the emotions that make or mar life—and lives—are set in swift, exciting play—one against the other. Incident follows incident with quick succession, and a vivid panorama of intrigue, mystery, love and strange adventure kindles the interest to the fusing point.

Written in a charming style, brilliant in coloring, picturesque in background, faithful in characterization and intensely dramatic, with stirring climax, Satan Sanderson is by all odds the best story of the year.

A Rock In the Baltic

After lunch a dismal drizzle set in that presently increased to a steady downpour, which drove Lermontoff to his cabin, and that room being unprovided with either window or electric light, the prince struck a match to one of the candles newly placed on the washstand. He pushed the electric button summoning the steward and, giving him some money, asked if there was such a thing as a piece of stone on board, carried as ballast or for any other purpose. The steward said he would inquire and finally returned with a sharpening stone used for the knives in the galley. Boiling his door, Lermontoff began an experiment and at once forgot he was a prisoner. He filled the wash basin with water and, opening one of the glass stoppered bottles, took out with the point of his knife a small minute portion of the substance within, which he dissolved in the water with no apparent effect. Standing the whetstone up on end, he filled the glass syringe and directed a fine, vaporous spray against the stone. It dissolved before his eyes as a sand castle on the shore dissolves at the touch of an incoming tide.

"By St. Peter of Russia," he cried, "I've got it at last! I must write to Katherine about this."

Summoning the steward again to take away this fluid and bring him another pailful of fresh water, Lermontoff endeavored to extract some information from the deferential young man.

"Have you ever been in Stockholm?"

"No, excellency."

"Or in any of the German ports?"

"No, excellency."

"Do you know where we are making for now?"

"No, excellency."

"Nor when we shall reach our destination?"

"No, excellency."

"You have some prisoners aboard?"

"Three drunken sailors, excellency."

"Yes, that's what the captain said. But if it meant death for a sailor to be drunk the commerce of the world would speedily stop."

"This is a government steamer, excellency, and if a sailor here disobeys orders he is guilty of mutiny. On a merchant vessel they would merely put him in irons."

"I see. Now, do you want to earn a few gold pieces?"

"Excellency has been very generous to me already," was the noncommittal reply of the steward, whose eyes nevertheless twinkled at the mention of gold.

"Well, here's enough to make a jingle in your pocket, and here are two letters which you are to try to get delivered when you return to St. Petersburg."

"Yes, excellency."

"You will do your best?"

"Yes, excellency."

"Well, if you succeed I'll make your fortune when I'm released."

"Thank you, excellency."

That night at dinner the captain opened a bottle of vodka and conversed genially on many topics without touching upon the particular subject of liberty. He partook sparingly of the stimulant, and to Lermontoff's disappointment, it did not in the least loosen his tongue, and thus, still ignorant of his fate, the prince turned in for the second night aboard the steamer.

When he awoke next morning he found the engines had stopped and, as the vessel was motionless, surmised it had reached harbor. He heard the intermittent chuck-chuck of a pony engine and the screech of an imperfectly oiled crane and guessed that cargo was being put ashore.

"Now," he said to himself, "if my former sentinel is at the door they are going to take me to prison. If he is absent, I am to be set free."

He jumped up, threw back the bolt, opened the door. There was no one there. In a very few minutes he was on deck and found that the steamer was lying in the lee of a huge rock, which reminded him of Mont St. Michel in Normandy, except that it was about half again as high and three times as long and that there were no buildings of any kind upon it, nor, indeed, the least sign of human habitation.

The morning was fine. In the east the sun had just risen and was flooding the grim rock with a rosy light. Except this rock no trace of land was visible as far as the eye could see. Alongside the steamer was moored a sailing boat with two masts, but provided also with thole pins and sweeps for rowing. The sails were furled, and she had evidently been brought to the steamer's side by means of the oars. Into this craft the crane was lowering boxes, bags and whatnot, which three or four men were stowing away. The mate was superintending this transshipment, and the captain, standing with his back against the deckhouse, was handing one by one certain papers, which Lermontoff took to be bills of lading, to a young man who signed in a book for each he received. When this transaction was completed, the young man saluted the captain and descended over the ship's side of the sailboat.

"Good morning, captain. At anchor, I see," said Lermontoff.

"No, not at anchor. Merely lying here. The sea is too deep and affords no anchorage at this point."

"Where are all these goods going?"

The captain nodded his head at the rock, and Lermontoff gazed at it again, running his eyes from top to bottom without seeing any vestige of civilization.

"Then you lie to the lee of this rock, and the small boat takes the supplies ashore?"

"Exactly," said the captain.

"The settlement, I take it, is on the other side. What is it—a lighthouse?"

"There's no lighthouse," said the captain.

"Sort of coastguard, then?"

"Yes, in a way. They keep a lookout. And now, highness, I see you've got it."

A well-known local druggist, when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless, and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription pharmacy. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic afflictions with splendid results, he could see no reason why it should not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles and backache, as it has a peculiar action upon the entire kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to sift and filter from the blood the foul acids and waste matter, which cause sickness and suffering. Those who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial.

His Neglect.

He used to tell her she was fair, And she was glad to hear his praise. He guarded her from danger where they used to cross crowded ways; He used to tenderly assist Her from the carriage or the car; But now his gallantry is missed How brief such favor softens are! He never tells her she is sweet, He never offers her his arm, Or guards her in the crowded street From anything that offers harm.

He used to praise her soulful eyes, But many years passed since then; She used to listen with glad sighs To hear him say the words again. He never tells her now that she Possesses charms which make glad; He never lifts her gallantly Across the places that are bad; Yet do not blame him or declare With thoughtless haste such is life; He has no right to call her fair, The lady is another's wife.

A Football Enthusiast.

W. J. Clothier, the tennis champion of America, said at a dinner in Philadelphia:

"Tennis is all very well in its way, but what is the excitement, what is the enthusiasm of tennis compared to that of football?"

"Perhaps you have heard of that Pennsylvania guard who, coming to at the end of a football game, whispered to the physician bending over him:

"Did we win, doctor?" "Yes, hands down," the physician answered.

"Never mind that fractured thigh then, doc," he said. "Just take these broken teeth out of my mouth so's I can holler."

STATE PRIMARY LAW IN ILLINOIS

Will Be Considered By Legislature

Governor Deneen Sends Special Message to General Assembly Urging Bill.

WATERWAYS MEASURE IS UP.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 8.—The hottest political week Springfield has known for years is the official forecast for the state capital beginning tomorrow night. Gov. Deneen arrived in Springfield after his trip to Memphis with President Roosevelt and the Mississippi valley governors, and at once began the preparation of the message which the general assembly expects to receive immediately upon its re-assembling.

As to the primary law, Gov. Deneen urges the passage of an act providing for direct primaries on state, congressional, legislative and county offices, without the intervention of a convention in any case. He will ask that the primary law will be clearly constitutional and free from intentional sections designed to destroy it. He will also suggest that the law be passed by a two-thirds vote in each house and allow it to become effective immediately.

Gov. Deneen will ask the legislature to remain in session until the primary law is framed.

Gov. Deneen is expected to urge the legislature to enact the substantial features of senate bill 544, now in the senate, which furnishes the bone of contention between the sanitary trustees and Joliet.

Both sides were represented at the Memphis convention. The Chicago Association of Commerce took a lively interest in the proposition as soon as the sanitary district missionaries got into action. In the Joliet delegation were men closely in touch with the Economy Light and Power company, who had something to say in opposition to the bill.

The waterway bill will be introduced in the house Tuesday in unanimous consent can be procured, without opposition from Joliet. The bill is a senate measure and has been reported out of committee there. If it is introduced in the house it is possible its friends will ask to have it considered in committee of the whole.

Another proposition is to send it to the committee on waterways and to hold joint sessions of the senate and house committees to consider the bill. If the latter course is followed there will be no outsiders heard, and the debate will be confined to members of the committees.

Every Woman of Experience has a private Rogue's Gallery. She can give you a Line on the whole Bunko Brotherhood from Sammy the Sophomore, who wears a Buckwheat Cake instead of a Cap, up to the decrepit old Has-Been who wants to hold your Hand because you look so much like his Daughter. You are a Mere Child of 19, with a Baby Stare and a Simple Faith in Mankind, and you are due to be Strung unless you Copper about fourths of all that is said to you. There will be enough Hot Air wasted around that Hotel this Summer to keep a Flat Building nice and warm all next Winter. It behooves you to be Foxy, otherwise you will be engaged to so many at one time that you will get twisted in your Book-Keeping and overplay your System."

"No doubt I shall make many Mix-ups," said Isabelle, "and yet I am willing to Experiment."

"I suppose you understand that in order to be strong with the various Kinds that will be on your Trail you must learn to be a Quick-Change Artist," said Mother. "For instance, there is the Spring Lamb with the Stung Little Coat and Big Shoes. He is just home from College, and when he walks along the Veranda it sounds like a Team going over a Bridge. If one of those Squabs should begin to pursue you, what would you do?"

"I am so inexperienced I hardly know what to say," replied little Isabelle. "I think, however, that I would tie a large Can to him, unless there was a horrible Shortage in the Supply and I had to throw in a few Under-studies. As a rule, the pink faced collegian is a little shy on Collateral and more or less of a Dummy on any Topic except Illinois."

with him is to feel his Muscles and tell him how well his Clothes fit. If you jolly him up for three or four Days you may get a nice Photograph of him, and then he will bone you for one in Return and nail it up in his Den and tell all the other Johnnies that you are crazy about him. The trouble with the Glad College Youth is that he has been plucked a little too soon. Besides, I don't think a Man starts in to be Good Company until he is just 25."

"And some of them have a few Points to pick up after they pass 25," added Mother. "You seem to be wise to the very Young Kind. How about the Bachelor with the Tremolo Voice who wants to sit about six Inches away from you all the time and look you straight in the Eye and tell you that Life was a Desert until he bumped into you?"

"That's the Time to hang out the Red Light," replied Daughter. "I've been out among 'em only two Seasons, but I've taken that Boy's Measure all right, all right. He's the kind that wants you to lean on his Shoulder and tell all your Troubles to a True Friend after he has known you about 20 Minutes, and if you hang back he is Hurt and seems to think that you do him an Injustice. He has got away with it so often that his Nerve is up; and as for the Huffy-Duffy Talk that he has learned by Heart, it is the Kind calculated to make a Girl ashamed of herself unless she starts right in and loves him with her whole Soul. He is a pretty dangerous Proposition. You can say 'Scat!' to Fendle the Freshman, or else send him on an Errand, but Mr. Arthur Fresh, who is getting along towards 20, is so accustomed to the Throw-Down that he arises, dusts his Clothes, and comes back with a Genial Smile and treats the whole Incident as a Joke. Then, if you Repeat and try to Square yourself, the Chances are that he will wait until you begin to act real Friendly and then he will give you the Toss and hike off after some new Geraldine."

"Merciful Mayonnaise!" exclaimed Mother. "I don't believe I am qualified to sit on the Side-Lines and do any Coaching for you. You seem to be Next. Did they teach you all this at Boarding-School?"

"Don't give it away," said Isabelle, "but I'll tell you on the Q. T. that we have what is known as the Protective Order of Buds. The Trifler who goes up and down the Line springing the Guff at First Sight is spotted and tagged in a Hurry. There are two ways of handling this Party. One is to spring his Record on him and kid him until he lets up. The other is to believe everything and String him along. The Second Method is the one usually employed by all True Artists. The older the Bachelor the bigger the Clutch. Hold on to one of his Coat-Buckles and look up at him and ask him a lot of feeble-minded Questions about the Wicked World and he will talk for Hours at a Time. But the Minute the Sun goes down you want to yell for the Chap-eron until you can be heard in the next Township. That will lead him to believe that he is a fascinating and dangerous "YOU DON'T NEED TO AT- PERSON. IT TENDS ANY NIGHT-SCHOOL."

is always a terrible HJ. I know two Girls who landed Good Things last Summer merely by sitting out in a Hammock and calling for Chap-erons. They used to sit out until Midnight begging somebody to go for a Chap-eron, and the Gentlemen had to talk to them for hours in order to calm them and convince them that the Whole Proceeding was according to Hoyle—that is, as long as they were with Nice Fellows."

"I take off my Bonnet to you," said Mother. "You don't need to attend any Night School. There's just one other Variety. How about the Lonesome Married Man?"

"You mean the kind that wants to tell you how sorry he is that he didn't find you before he hooked up with a Woman who never seems to Understand him. He is a Sad Affair. He is trying to sneak a Return Trip on the Filtration Route after he has lost his Ticket. As a Study he is fairly interesting, but the Pursuit of him is barred by the Game Laws. The best way to quiet him down is to get friendly with his Wife."

"That settles it," said the elderly Society Bird. "Any time that I want a Hunch I'll hunt up the Young Lady of To-day."
